CHAPLAIN GILBERT

His Lecture at the Presbyterian Church Last Evening.

Talks Entertainingly of His Experience With the Second Oregon in the Philippines.

At the First Presbyterian church Tuesday evening Rev. W. S. Gilbert, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Eugene, late chaplain of the First Oregon regiment, entertained a select audience very pleasantly with his lecture on the Philippines.

The church was well filled with Salem's best people, who seemed to thoroughly enjoy the chaplain's talk and gave their closest attention, several times interrupting with applause.

Will Ketchum opened the entertainment with a very appropriate piece of music on the organ, combining the army bugle calls and some of such old favorite airs as "Should auld Acquaintance be Forgot," "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground" etc.

The lecturer was introduced by Rev. Ketchum, pastor of the church, and he opened with the words:

"Our nation is in the midst of events which occupy the thoughts of the world."

Probably most of the audience were particularly anxious to hear the Chaplain's views on the proper course to be pursued in the Philippines, but he did not commit himself definitely to much that could be objected to by anyone.

Turning his attention to the economic phase, he asked: "Will it be a commercial advantage to the nation to hold the Philippines?" and he seemed to think that it would. It should be of particular interest to the people of Oregon and Washington. The great sphere of the world's commerce would be in the Pacific.

He thought that when the whole nation's attention was turned to a question like this the decision would be right: "The voice of the American people will be the voice of God."

Christians ought to be particularly interested in the dawning of the new day in the Orient, with all it means for the spread of Christianity.

He could not answer the question as to how long the war would last, nor did he hazard an opinion as to how many troops would be required.

Some hard problems would face us and one of the hardest would be the economic problem arising from the fact that the Filipino owns nothing. There are no small land holdings, all land being owned in great estates, and the people have little to encourage saving or industrious habits.

"They do not need religion; they have plenty of it." And the speaker paid a glowing tribute to the religious faith and fervor of the Filipinos.

But they need education, and, "the outcome of the Filipinos depends on the delicate adjustment of the question of education."

"The people will be given self-government as fast as they will govern themselves," said the speaker.

He then turned his attention in the direction of anecdote and personal reminiscence, and described the course of the Oregon regiment and some of the experiences which it passed through.

The fact then became apparent that the speaker had a very high opinion of the chaplain of the second Oregon and several anecdotes of physical and moral courage, heroism and kindness, all had the chaplain as their hero.

He related many humorous incidents, and some very pathetic ones and succeeded in bringing many handkerchiefs into requisition in the audience.

Describing the taking of Manila, he said: "Dewey set the Filipinos at work and they drove the Spaniards clear into Manila. Then we asked the Filipinos to step aside and we would finish. And they stepped aside. And we finished. Was that right? You can decide."

In regard to the opening of hostilities with the Filipinos, he said: "President McKinley is wrong when he claims that the insurgents fired the first shot. The first shot was fired by a sentinel of the Nebraska regiment." And he corroborated the press report of the affair.

Touching the effect of soldier life on the men, he had asked the opinions of 12 captains and 12 sergeants. They had unanimously replied that comparing the present with the first of the term of service, there was less tendency to drunkenness, less gambling, more propriety and no loss in sexual purity. Manila was not half as corrupt as cities in our own country.

On the last count, however the statement was not in exact accord with his earlier description of the temptations which assailed the soldier, and his assurance that if one of the boys came home with his purity unscathed his parents should thank God.

Love of home had increased among the men, many had reformed their lives, and kindness had grown among them.

The speaker closed with a beautiful incident of the mutual courtesies exchanged between the American and Filipino troops at the sounding of the evening bugle call "retreat," during a truce, and said, "may that incident be a harbinger of the day not far distant."

when the Filipinos and Americans may understand each other, and peace shall reign once more."

Chaplain Gilbert has a good delivery and is an entertaining speaker who steers through the difficult situation without dropping offensively into politics; and his lecture is well worth hearing.

JOURNAL X-RAY'S.

Why is every organ of his party trying to explain that McKinley is a really and truly, sure enough cross-your-heart friend of Dewey?

If Bryan expects to be president, why don't he get in and abuse McKinley?

When the opportunity is afforded them the American people will remove the old flag from the Sulu Islands and again make it the flag of the free.—Watchman.

I believe in the Filipino war—it gave Col. Summers promotion to a generalship and in the meantime I drew his salary.—Fighting Bob.

The president has a "kind heart" and a "glad hand," but that doesn't crush the Filipino, nor give him autonomy.

The state treasurer has just placed in the vault of the treasury office a $1700 coin safe. Just what for the Democrat is not informed. The business of the office is reputed to be done entirely through the banks.—Albany Democrat.

About the worst fakir abroad in the land is the foreign advertising solicitor who bilks our merchants on all manner of side schemes.

If you want your ad. pinned up where it will never be seen, give it to the ad. fakir.

When Lincoln was remonstrated with for putting Grant to the head of the army, his only reply was: "We need a man that will fight, and Grant fights." McKinley ought to begin looking for that kind of a man or quit business in the Philippines.

AN IMPORTANT FOOD LAW.
Heavy Penalties for Selling Articles of Food Containing Unhealthy Ingredients.

The following law was passed at the last session of the Missouri Legislature, taking effect August 20, 1899:

Section 1.—That it shall be unlawful for any person or corporation doing business in this state to manufacture, sell or offer to sell any article, compound or preparation for the purpose of being used or which is intended to be used in the preparation of food, in which article, compound or preparation there is any arsenic, calomel, bismuth, ammonia or lup.

Sec. 2.—Any person or corporation violating the provisions of this act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall, upon conviction, be fined not less than one hundred dollars, which shall be paid into and become a part of the road fund of the county in which such fine is collected.

The operation of this law will be mainly against alum baking powders. But the manufacture or sale of any article intended to be used in food which contains any of the substances classed by the law as unhealthy—from Arsenic to Alum—is absolutely prohibited.

The Shirley Engagement.

Next week beginning September 18, the Jessie Shirley Company will play a return engagement at the Reeds opera house. Salem theatre goers will remember Miss Shirley as the little lady who made such a pronounced success on her last trip. Since then the company has traveled through Canada and Washington where they have proved a great success. They come with new plays such as Trilby, Doris, Married in Haste, Lady of Lyons, Clever Fool and others. The opening bill will be "Doris," in which Effie Ellsler made her greatest success. It is a strong and powerful play of human interest, the characters being drawn in strong colors. The third act is pronounced the cleverest work done by Miss Shirley, her pleading scene being not unlike the second act of "La Tosca."

August 25, the Tacoma Ledger says: To all who remember the charm and power of Effie Ellsler, the production of her play "Doris," last night at the Tacoma by the Jessie Shirley company brought up memories of their favorite, Jessie Shirley's portrayal of Doris is quite as distinctly impressive as the most exacting could wish.

Stray Notice.

Notice is hereby given that I have taken up and impounded the following described animal found running at large within the City of Salem, to-wit:

The music and art-loving public cordially invited. The music and art courses of this school will be equal to the best in the Northwest.

Olinger & Rigdon.

We wish to announce to the general public that we have purchased the most elegant and magnificent funeral car, of latest design, and are therefore in a position to handle funerals in a much better manner than heretofore, and with less expense. We have long felt that Salem, being the capital city of a great state, should be up to date in the manner of handling funerals, and we have therefore spared no expense in purchasing the car. It was built by the James Cunningham Co., Rochester, New York, who build the finest vehicles in the United States. While this is not the most expensive funeral car ever built, still it is the finest ever shipped to Oregon.

We cordially invite all to inspect our facilities, and when necessary require, to give us liberal patronage.
